THE SUNDRY CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL

The Excess in the Cost of Running the Government---Senate District Committee Meets.

After the reading of the journal the House to-day went into Committee of The Old Man Who Wanted to Marry the Whole on the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill.

Mr. Cannon of Illinois said that I'e amount of appropriation carried by the measure was, in round numbers, $28,000,000. This was $13,000,000 less than the regular and special estimates. The sundry civil law for the current year provided for an expenditure of $25,000,000. The apparent excess in the bill was largely accounted for by certain extraordinary items. Among these were expenditures for the lighthouse service, the Bureau of En graving and Printing, the eleventh cenous, the irrigation survey, the library homes for disabled volunteer soldiers and aid to State homes, These amounted to $3,700,000. The bill was liberal, effective and economical.

Mr. Cannon then gave a statement of the attitude of the appropriation bills. The fourteen regular appropriation The fourteen regular appropriation bills as reported to the House aggre-gated an expenditure of $306. 000,000, showing an excess of $35,000, 000 over the appropriations for the current year. This was nearly all accounted for in three bills—Pension, $18,000,000: Postoffice, $12,000,000, and Naval, $2,160,000. The other $3, 000,000 resulted from the expansion incident to the growth of the country

a Little Child. New York, June 13,-Benjamin Monger, aged 62 years, and Mrs. Mary Munn had a further hearing before Justice McMahon at the Tombs Police Court yesterday afternoon and were held on a charge of abducting Mrs. Munn's 12-year-old daughter Mamie, whom the old pair brought to this city, in order to compel her to marry Monger, in order that Mamie's mother, a grass widow, might get an interest in Monger's bank account. According to Mamie's story in court, both her father and mother wanted her to marry "Ben," as they all called Monger, so that they could get his money. Besides he was about to get a pension as a soldier in

In his own behalf the old man said: "I never intended to marry Mamie. Her mother wanted me to marry the girl. That's been the talk for two cars. We just came over to New York on Tuesday to see the Brooklyn Bridge, It's not so that I'm rich."

Mrs. Munn admitted that both herelf and her husband wanted Mamie to marry the old man, because they thought he would take good care of

HARRISON ON ICE.

A COOL RECEPTION TO THE MINNESOTA EDITORS ON A HOT DAY.

Nautral On-Lookers Dispensed With Their Fans Republican Party

Writers Concent the Pacts. The story telegraphed the St. Paul Globs Monday night concerning the rather shabby treatment accorded the Minnesota editorial party by the President has caused not a little comment. and Mr. Harrison will hear from it for some time to come. According to this dispatch the party were kept waiting over an hour for the President, whom it seems was engaged in conversation with some Senator about the distribution of office. At least, that is the substance of what Mr. Dunnell is alleged to have said to Mr. W. B. Mitchell. When the President did put in an appearance to receive the gentlemen of the press he appeared to be ill at ease, and his mannor was such as to impress the molders of political opinion that he wished the reception brought to an early close.

As the majority of the Minnesota entires run Republican papers, it would be but natural for them to criticise the Globe story, and that they did in no unmeasured words goes without say-ing. However, they did not deny the story in toto, but said that it was a mis-statement of fact.

Mr. C. H. Slocum, editor of the Gleu-coe Register, said that he regretted to see such a story published, as he thought it a reflection on the cilitorial party.
"The facts," said he, "are not correctly stated. The time named to meet the President was 9:30 a. m. He was ready to receive us at that time, but we were not on hand, and of course he could not wait when he had made other appointments. The President's manner was cordial, and he seemed pleased to meet us. Nearly every member of our party says that we are to blame for not being on hand. They are outspoken against the story printed in the St. Paul Cloke."

THE PRESIDENT APPEARED PLEASED. Mr. S. Listoe, editor of Norshaesten, the organ of the Scandinavians, pub-lished at St. Paul, said he thought it very bad taste for the Globe to print such a story. The President appeared such a story. The President appeared pleased, and had a pleasant word for each member of the party. Mr. Harrison, he said, might have seemed a little stiff, but, if so, no doubt it was due to the fact that the editors were not on

The Democratic editor was hard to of the Demogratic editor was hard to find, but after a long search The Critic reporter ran up against Mr. Clare W. Blakely, editor of the Rochester Resord and Union. When asked for the opinion of the Globe story, he said: "I am sorry the Globe published such an account, for we were to blame as we were not on time. No doubt Harrison was disappointed at not meeting such a fine-looking body of men at the hour appointed, and when he did come into the parlor he was still suffering from his disappointment, and, therefore, acted a little stiff. Then again, per-haps, he thought that, as the Republi-can editors of Minnesota were not on hand punctually at the hour, it was a bad omen, and that it meant that at the fall elections, the Minnesota Republicans will not be on hand election day. But I think the President should not be criticised and it would have been better if nothing had been printed.' Of course, no one expects the Repub-lican editors of Minnesota to cast re-flections on the President, but, at the same time, it is well to remember that Harrison's Administration has been severely handled by the Republican press of Minnesota, especially so by the St. Paul Pioneer Press, and it would be a clever feat for the President to conceal, If he could, his feelings, when brought face to face with the men who have so lambasted bim and exposed the cloven

An American Traveler in a Place That Fascinated Dickens,

From the New York Sun There is a pie shop in London that Charles Dickens used to stand before, when, as a child, he drudged in a blacking factory. Every day, on his way to and from work, he paused to devour the viands with his eyes, and sometimes, as he said, he pressed his tongue to the window-panes, as if by doing that he got a little bit of a taste of the good things that lay so near, yet were so far beyond his reach. An American railroad man, who admires Dick ens, hunted up this ple shop when he was recently in London, in order to gratify sentiment and curlosity. It proved to be a mero box of a place, in a poor quarter of the city, but the original business was still conducted there, and pastry of doubtful aspect and uncertain age still occupied the win-dow. As the traveler peered into the shadowy interior a voice piped at his elbow: 'Please, sir, will you buy me a

The owner of the voice was a small, disheveled person, with whom a yeal ple or any other kind would have agreed right well, and he made his reest from motives of undoubted and remous personal interest. "How many boys do you suppose that shop could hold?" I dunno. About fifteen or sixteen, ould think." "Weil, you go and got lifteen more ye, and bring them back here." The boy studied the man's face for a the cu joyment of his senses, then hurled himself into a side street with a yell. Hardly a minute clapsed before he re-turned, the head of a procession of six-

This ragged battalion assem-ided close behind the benefactor and followed him precipitately into the shop when he abnounced that he was oldy to give them all the ple they For a quarter of an hour, the aston-Ished baker served "weal an 'am' ples, hand over hand, to the sixteen astonished youth of London, while the American sat down and watched the scene with hardly less astonishment. Few words were spoken, and the onshaught was as derce and persistent while it lasted as the charge at 'Fel of Kehir. The exhaustion of supplies brought the banquet to an end, and the traveler paid the score, thinking it little to pay, in view of the fun he had had while the boys tumbled into the street, the news of this miracle through the

HIS EXHIBITION AT THE COLUMBIA CLUB OBJECTED TO.

But There le No Way It Can Be Stopped_Opinions of Prominent Members.

The announcement, published exlusively in THE CRITIC on Wednesday, that John L. Sullivan would sparat the Columbia Athletic Club next week, has created considerable objection on the part of some of the members. A protest has been made by about sixty members of the club, who have united in a request for a call for a special meeting to consider the matter, but this will not avail anything, as under the rules a special meeting cannot be held inless the members are given notice a week in advance. By that time the ex-hibition will have been given. But those who oppose the exhibition propose to prevent it by other means, and a prominent member of the club outined the programme to a Chiric reporter to-day as follows:

"If we cannot stop it any other way we will make the board of governors apply for a license to give the exhibi-tion. They propose to charge an ad-mission fee and they must take out a license just as a theatre has to. I don't believe it is right. We are asked to in-dorse Sullivan and through our infuence help him to escape

THE PUNISHMENT HE DESERVES from the Mississippl courts. Sallivan will dispose of the complimentary tick ets to be given him as he sees fit. H is not coming here for nothing and the greater majority of the members are opposed to making the club a party to his disreputable scheme.

The members of the club are sadly divided on the question, and a group "Paradise Flata" this morning at the National Theatre vigorously expressed themselves in regard to the men who were objecting to the exhibition. One of them said: "There are a lot of dudes in the club who joined it simply for its social features. They don't care about the athletic part of it, while we who started the club want to make that a feature. We are trying to get the said of the company's building, corner with and F of them who were at the rehearsal of are trying to get the men into the symnasium and believe that this exhidtion will tend to increase the interest f the members and bring them there. The exhibition will surely take place, or the objectors only represent about one-difteenth of the total membership. No matter what Sullivan's reputation we can neither add to it nor take anything away from it. He is the champion pugilist of the world, and an exhibition by him is purely in the line of sport. If he is trying to get the ympathy of Southern Congressmen to help him out of the Mississippi trouble t is none of our business. The exhibiion is purely in the interest of sport, and it will be given. Of that you can

The other members of the club who were present indorsed this view of the case, but several objected to the proposed exhibition, solely because an admission price was to be charged. They thought it savored too much of the methods of a variety theatre. Otherwise they wanted to see the event

From present indications it looks very much as if Sullivan and Joe Lannon will appear before the Columbia Club next Tuesday night.
